INTRODUCTION

I am not sure where this system originated from but it was relayed to me by a friend who has been involved in horse race betting for more years that I can remember and what he does not on the subject know is probably irrelevant!

The system concentrates on finding winners in the horses which are just starting out on their National Hunt careers and where they can take advantage of the racing regulations even though they may have tasted success already.

For the purposes of explaining the system I will use information from the free pages of the Racing Post website but other sites will offer similar data if you prefer to use them. The main question you need to consider if you do this is whether the tissue prices quoted on the other sites are as reliable as those of the acknowledged market leader – the Racing Post.

A 69 point profit has been achieved at an ROI of 8.47% which is on the lower end of the scale but with a 55.25% strike rate the risk is relatively low (and experienced punters may consider a more aggressive staking plan would be suitable). A conservative option to add to a portfolio.
